SECOND SUBSAMPLE (Q23-27):

ATTITUDES ABOUT TRENDS IN JOURNALISM

Now we want to ask you about your attitudes and perceptions regarding certain types of journalism practices and trends.

SPONSORED CONTENT / NATIVE ADVERTISING

News organizations are beginning to experiment with new forms of advertising that are different from traditional display ads. These new forms, which can resemble editorial content, have been described by different names, including sponsored content and native advertising.

23. In general, which of the following statements comes closer to your view of the practice of sponsored content or native advertising?

- Sponsored content and native advertising could help bring in new revenue to journalism and there is a way to do it ethically.
- Sponsored content and native advertising cross ethical boundaries and ultimately will damage news organizations' credibility.

24. If you work in journalism, does your organization offer advertisers some form of native advertising or sponsored content?

- Yes
- No
- I don't know
- I don't work in journalism

OTHER TRENDS

25. The internet makes redistributing content from other publishers easier than ever. Which of the following comes closer to your view of this practice?

- Good journalism costs money to produce and aggregators should compensate journalists and their organizations for that work.
- There is no stopping open distribution now and it's better to have more available to everyone.

Another recent practice in news is so-called "fact checking journalism," by which we mean news organizations producing content that is branded under a special title and rates or judges the accuracy of claims by politicians and government officials.

26. If you work in journalism, does the organization where you work do this kind of political "fact checking" work?

- Yes, my organization has a dedicated fact-checking feature or brand (e.g., "Kansas Fact Meter") as an ongoing feature
- Yes, my organization has a dedicated fact-checking feature or brand (e.g., "Kansas Fact Meter") but only during elections
- No, we don't typically do this kind of branded or dedicated "fact checking" journalism
- I don't know
- I don't work in journalism

Other (please specify) _____

27. Some people say "fact checking journalism" works by discouraging politicians from repeating claims. Others say it helps citizens understand which claims are true. Overall, for whatever reason, how effective or ineffective do you believe "fact checking journalism" is?

- | | | | | | |
|-----------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| Very effective | Somewhat effective | Neither effective nor ineffective | Somewhat ineffective | Very ineffective | Not sure/No opinion |
| <input type="radio"/> | <input type="radio"/> | <input type="radio"/> | <input type="radio"/> | <input type="radio"/> | <input type="radio"/> |
